

Review from Hifi & Musik (No. 11, 2004)
Review! Floorstanding speakers 2000-3000 SEK

Proson Conquest 6020 MK2

Most well-built

"And the price for the most well built loudspeaker goes to Proson! Yes, as a matter of fact since they are very stable and has a finish that can stand a close up inspection. 6020 is the smaller one of the two floor-speakers that is a part of the Conquest-series.

The loudspeaker is equipped with a 1-inch ring radiator and double 6.5-inch Kevlar-drivers in the woofer/midrange. The model is a so called 2.5-way speaker where the lower driver's crossover frequency is 150 Hz, while the upper stretches to 2.7Hz. Unusual for the price class is the dome-shaped front baffle. That is pretty expensive to accomplish and we are a little surprised to find that in this price class. The box is well-built and it feels like the speaker, when we talk about finish, could have been in a much higher price range."

"When we talk about sound, the Proson places itself right above the middle in this party. It has a sound that is impossible to have any objections to. It does not make a fool out of itself in any of the parameters and has a sound that is well balanced and adjusted. The bass is pretty deep and tight with a good sting. It never feels like the bass is missing, the music gets a ground that makes the sound feel full and with a good support for voices that makes the vocals vigorous. "

Grading (1-5)

Sound: 4

Sensitivity: 4

Building quality: 5+

Price worthiness: 4